For the committee—

JOHN CAMPBELL,
Chairman.
J. W. D. STOVELL,
Secretary.

If Judge Thurman should visit New York, Mr. Charles A. Dana of the New York Sun would entirely forget that Mr. Cleveland is running for president.

The senate yesterday rejected the fisheries treaty by a strict party vote. In all probability it will soon dispose of all the regular business before it in order to take up the tariff bill.

The willingness and ability with which the republican congressmen from California have defended General Harrison's Chinese record, is ample proof that his candidacy is regarded with favor on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. J. Ellen Foster of Iowa, the well known temperance advocate, has organized the woman's national republican committee, which has issued an appeal to all women to labor for the success of the party which stands for morality and temperance.

An analysis of the vote by which the Mills bill passed the house shows that 3,618,637 votes were cast in the districts of the 162 members who voted for the bill, and 4,584,365 votes were polled in the districts of the 149 members who voted against the measure. From this standpoint the Mills billites do not appear to be a very popular set.

The Personal Liberty league in Pennsylvania and the democratic editor in New Jersey and New York are now working actively for the democratic ticket. They will do a fair and honest way by the prohibitionists, who are opposed to the high license policy which the republican party has adopted in those states.

Senator Allison, of the senate finance committee, has denied the statement that Mr Blaine has written him to the effect that it would be advisable for the committee not to report a tariff bill. Mr. Blaine will be found with the party on this issue, and the republican members of the committee can be safely trusted with the work of framing the bill.

District Attorney Fellows of New York, and the Hon. Thomas M. Patterson, of Colorado are among the democratic orators who will discuss the political issues of the day in Maine. While these gentlemen are not subject for Cleveland and Reform they ought be able to compare notes on criminal law and practice, with which both are familiar. During Mr Fellows absence several of the New York democratic orators will visit Maine.

Mr. Calvin S. Brice, the Ohio million aire, one of the democratic campaign managers, is reported as being greatly alarm d over his party's prospects. It is said that he has advised the passage of the senate tariff bill by the house, in order to dispose of the cry of free trade which is being made against the democratic party. It has also been the president to summon Mr. Randall to his aid in order to enlist the support of the protection wing of the party. From the above it would appear that Mr. Brice is a democrat not for principle only, but for the offices as well.

While the politicians are predicting general ruin for the business interests of the country in the event of certain things coming to pass, there is an increasing activity in trade shown by the growing demand for money. In this connection the St. Louis Globe-Democrat said: The loan item of the New York associated banks in the week just ended increased over $2,000,000, and the surplus of those institutions, for the first time in several months, is below the $22,000,000 mark. A like increased call for money is shown in the other financial centers. The outlook for general business throughout the country during the coming fall and winter is decidedly hopeful at present.

In commenting upon the first report of the New York board of arbitration established in that state to arbitrate between employers and employes, the Boston Advertiser said:

As bearing on the important question of whether employes have any public responsibility and can strike and disarrange public business, this report deals very pointedly. The commission raises the issue whether laws should be enacted compelling workmen for large corporations, performing a semi-public service, not to discontinue great public interests by leaving off working on account of some grievance. They show clearly that railroad corporations and other chartered under the law are obliged to the business and the safety of the community by statute, and they ask pertinently why should not those latter be just as much under the law to perform their duty as semi-public agents as the corporations themselves. This is a matter which, if the labor question goes on to assume as important phases as in the past year, must be met by legislation. It cannot be doubted that on its present basis the labor laws are more favorable to labor, organizations than to employers and that the latter are very often put at a disadvantage by the combination of labor. It is not strange that in New York and elsewhere employers are beginning to organize to resist the encroachments of their employes, and if this organization continues it will become then a question of endurance to see which side shall succeed, unless some more intelligent and far-reaching legislation is adopted than has yet been reached.

AMERICAN WOMEN.

What Some of Our Countrywomen are Doing Abroad.

VIENNA, August 5.

America is the paradise for women; we all know that; it goes without saying. An earthly paradise, however, subject to fluctuations and environed by hard necessities which has its drawbacks, and from which some have migrated to parts of the world, which, if less colored by the ideal, are less exacting in their actualities. America has good reason to be proud of at least some of the women it has sent out, and of the position they have made for themselves in lands where it is considered more difficult for them to work their way than at home. But what was true of the prophets of old is true of some women to-day who were without honor in their own country, they have found recognition for their work, and a place among the first abroad.

Mme. Antoinette Stirling is one of these. She was a true New England product, but her magnificent voice would never have taken her beyond the range of a church contralto in America, because she would not condescend to prettiness, the sins of coquetry, or the arts of dress; and prettiness is, as yet, our idea of the beauty and the principal duty of woman. The place accorded in London to Antoinette Stirline as woman as well as singer, is almost as exceptional as that accorded to Mary Anderson. Neither of these great artists have in any degree lowered their own standard of work or character, in order to find favor or win popular applause. Both have maintained intact a dignity which even gossip could not assail, and both have steadfastly kept their eyes on the clear heights achieved by faithfulness to one's own ideals rather than to the gratification of the passing caprices of the multitude. Both have made beautiful homes in London out with her husband [illegible] mother, her brother and sisters, and both [illegible] circle, and both have preserved that sweetness of simplicity of manners and personality [illegible] are the [illegible] and women [illegible] Smithsonian.

It is not [illegible] to [illegible] to occupy [illegible] sions. Miss Anderson and Mme Antoinette [illegible] not [illegible] to tell to, upon their [illegible] what further heights she former may rise, for she is still very young and her progress so far has been steadily upwards, carrying her public with her, and preserving a modesty as touching as the virgin mother, as humble and truthful as that of a child.

The helpful spirit of one American artist towards another in a strange land gives delightful evidence of the freedom of some, at least, from the [illegible] jealousy with which [illegible] charged. Miss Genevieve Ward, who has won her spurs and has nothing more to gain by contest as an American woman who sees the extremely hard position she was placed in when she was made so widely hospitable. She never loses an opportunity to aid those who need her help. Her Lordon host [illegible] [illegible] another American [illegible] Sanford of Newport and [illegible] exceedingly happy in each other's [illegible] society. Miss Ward has [illegible] the drudgery of the world [illegible] and only plays occasionally [illegible] hours now with entire [illegible] [illegible] and goes into being [illegible] and energy that she would [illegible] study of a new [illegible] [illegible] failed or warmed in her [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

THE G. A. R. EXCURSION TO COLUMBUS.

BEST LINE EAST.

The Union Pacific Ry is by all odds the "best line East" on account of the fast time that is made and the reasonable hours for leaving Denver. Also the close connection that is made in Union depot with the trunk lines from Kansas City, Council Bluffs, St. Louis and Chicago, reaching all the principal cities in the east. The U. P. Ry. is also the short line to the Pacific Coast, running two trains daily west and four trains to the east daily. The evening trains from Colorado Springs make close connections in Denver with the Union Pacific Ry. 8-7-tf

THE LORETTO ACADEMY.

Colorado Springs, will open on the first Wednesday of September. All the branches of a thorough and refined education, as well as the various accomplishments of music, drawing, painting, etc., will be taught in the Academy. The location, being in a convenient portion of the town, offers every attraction for pupils, while the excellent reputation which the Sisters of Loretto in charge have gained throughout the state as thorough teachers should assure for them the liberal patronage of the citizens of Colorado Springs.

Any one desiring information regarding terms, etc., can obtain it by applying at the Loretto Academy, Cascade ave.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE AND LOANS
NO. 9 NORTH TEJON STREET.
We represent only OLD TIME and RELIABLE INSURANCE COMPANIES—companies that can be relied on to PAY A LOSS when it occurs, so that we can guarantee in all cases a PROMPT, EQUITABLE and SATISFACTORY adjustment of loss, should a fire occur. This is worthy of consideration.
IN REAL ESTATE we aim to handle only the most desirable properties, as we find that SUCH PROPERTIES ONLY give satisfaction. We give a partial list below, to which we invite attention. NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST, as with the fall months, the opening of the "Rock Island" and other roads there is bound to be a much greater advance. CALL AND SECURE a home now.
We are agents for LOTS IN BOULDER HEIGHTS ADDITION and only ask of strangers and others that they look at these lots before buying elsewhere. They are the CAPITOL HILL of our city and SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES. We also have lots in WEST COLORADO SPRINGS, WEST BLUFF, Parrish's Addition, etc., for parties who wish to invest in that locality.
